

PRESS RELEASE

The Telangana State Special Protection Force in association with the Syndicate Bank, Hyderabad Birding Pals (HBP) and Friends of Flora and Fauna Society (FoFF) is organizing the Rangoli competition 'Muthyalu Muggu' on the Pedda Cheruvu bund, Ameenpur, Sangareddy District on Monday, January 14, 2019 from 0930 am onwards as part of the campaign to enrich the Biodiversity Heritage Site.

Women and girls of Ameenpur village, who have been part of the effort, to spread awareness about the protection and rejuvenation of the Ameenpur lake system, are to take part in an unique Rangoli competition 'Muthyalu Muggu'.

Prospective contestants will make the colourful rangoli's based on images of birds, flowers, leaves, trees and animals to spread the message of conservation of Nature and protection of birds and animals. As a token of appreciation the Telangana State Special Protection Force will give the participating women and girls a steel utensil as a gift besides the awards for the prize winners in three different age groups.

Protecting and caring for the biodiversity of the Ameenpur lake system poses several challenges. We are engaging all stakeholders and particularly the residents of the lake environs about how the water bodies have to be safeguarded from the ecological perspective. This is the message of the TSSPF.

The event is sponsored by Syndicate Bank, Zonal Office, Khairatabad, Hyderabad headed by Sri S. Vijay Kumar, General Manager.

We request you to send your media representative to witness the competitions and cover the event to contribute to the continuing campaign to protect the biodiversity of Ameenpur lakes.
